87 TODAY The world is a sorry place when you forget your heroes yet this is how people tend to operate so we are constantly seeking new ones. Politics lends itself to that for we are always looking at our politicians and asking ourselves “are you the one?” Will you solve our complex problems? Will you bring justice to all? Will you make mercy paramount or the rule of law which is an ideal and oftentimes unattainable? Martin Luther King, Jr. was born on January 15 of 1929. He was a great man, and like all great men, had great sins too. Though his path of nonviolence, his eloquence, his ideals did not protect him from jail, humiliation, and assassination, he does remind us how change can happen when you go against the grain and throw off the status quo of injustice. Compare his life to Gandhi, Archbishop Oscar Romero, Dorothy Day, and Our Lord Jesus Christ. Monday is a national day of service. I don't have something special planned but I do have a 10:00 meeting with Missions International that is the parent organization for our sister parish program with St. Raymond's. Last year you donated $27,629 through our parish and school collections to our sister parish in the city of San Carlos in the province of Alzatate in Guatemala. This is service of treasure. Do something and honor Dr. King on Monday. Every time we advance the cause of civil rights, we protect our own rights too. (King depicted on The Mall in DC coming out of “The Mountain of Despair”---only Mall monument not dedicated to a president.

From Dr. King:

- The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy.*
- Faith is taking the first step even when you don't see the whole staircase.*
- Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter.*

From First Graders:

- No one will be poor. Everyone has a good education. Everyone is loved. Everyone gets along. No more wars. Everyone shares. –Shawn*
- Martin dreamed that everyone shouldn't be judged by their skin color and hate cannot drive out hate. Only love can do that. Everyone gets treated the same. I dream that people aren't homeless. I wish people weren't sick. I wish people didn't go to jail. –Gus*
- Martin dreamed that everyone was treated fairly. He also had a dream that his 4 little kids would live in a nation where they weren't judged by the color of their skin but their character. –Carolyn*
- He wanted to make everyone friends so people weren't judged by their skin but by their love so everyone to be more like Jesus. –Cam*
- He was trying to change the laws that everybody would be treated fairly. I dream that everyone would be nice at recess. –Ella*
- He tried to change the laws and it worked and lots of people protested and the laws changed and everyone got treated fairly. –Steven*

A SINCERE THANK YOU TO MRS. PRISCILLA WILKERSON!

I would like to say a sincere thank you to Mrs. Priscilla Wilkerson for all her help this first semester for ICS. She stepped in and kept the ball rolling for us and took her job very seriously while filling in for Ms. Tara Kennedy who returned yesterday.

PAPA JOHNS DAY IS COMING ON FRIDAY, JANUARY 22ND.It will be sausage pizza only. Thanks for supporting our lunch program!

JUST A HEADS UP ON PARKING AROUND ICS--- We have some no parking zones during school hours, especially on Metter Ave. and Liberty and the bus drivers alert me so a ticket isn't given by the police---that would wreck my day...and it will wreck yours because the signs are posted. Do yourself a favor and avoid these areas. We can still use the Main Church lot a while. There is no really good drop-off place here which is another reason for the new school!

Upper Grades (4-8) - Jan 19, Feb 2, Feb 16, March 1, March 15

HEAD LICE Key Points from publication:

-female lives up to 3-4 wks and can lay up to 10 eggs/day

-itching is from the sensitization to components of the saliva when they suck tiny amount of blood from the scalp every few hours to feed.

-viable nits are unlikely to incubate and hatch at room temperatures without human Contact. If they did, the nymphs would need to find a source of blood for feeding within hours of hatching.

-Vigorous combing of wet hair after treatments is better than combing of dry hair.

-Nix is the recommended over the counter drug of choice for treatment, applied to damp hair that was shampooed with non-conditioning shampoo. Leave on hair 10 min then rinsed off, not washed off. It leaves a residue on hair to kill nymphs emerging from the 20% of eggs not killed with the application at first. However, conditioners and shampoos with detanglers or conditioner prevent the drug from adhering to the hair shaft and reduce residual effect. therefore repeat treatment in 7-10 days (day 9 recommended).

-Rid applied to dry hair, left on 10 min and rinsed out. No residual on hair left and newly laid eggs do not have a nervous system for a few days so 30% eggs are still viable after treatment. Therefore retreatment in 7-10 days recommended, day 9 is optimal.

-Kwell may cause seizures in children, left on 4 minutes at max, repeat treatment in 9-10days, resistance has been reported worldwide for years.

-Essential oils are used widely but with varying constitution of the oils from company to company, success rate has not been reproduced effectively, not FDA approved or inspected for safety standards.

-Petroleum shampooing is using petroleum jelly massaged in to scalp and hair, left on overnight w a shower cap. Diligent shampooing for the next 7-10days is required to remove the residual. Success rate falls directly into the daily attention to the grooming, not the procedure itself. The same applies to tub margarine, mayonnaise, olie oil and melted butter.

-Vinegar, acetone, vodka, bleach and WD-40 all proved ineffective, interfered with residual activity of Nix and Rid products and damaged human hair beyond repair.

-LiceGuard and Robi-comb are battery powered lice'combs' like a bug zapper. No studies performed on either for success rate and are not to be used on people with seizure disorders or pacemakers.

MaKey-MaKey is an invention kit for the 21st century. Turn everyday objects into touchpads and combine them with the internet. It's a simple Invention Kit for Beginners and Experts doing art, engineering, and everything in-between: the makeymakey kits is a printed circuit board with an microcontroller running Arduino Leonardo firmware that plugs into your computer with a usb. It uses the Human Interface (you) to communicate with your computer, and it can send key presses, mouse clicks, and mouse movements. There are six inputs on the front of the board, which can be attached to via alligator clipping, soldering to the pads, or any other method you can think of. Anything that can conduct a little bit of electricity can be turned into a controller apples, bananas, card board, pencils, playdoh, etc. It also can interface with scratch, programming software that they have learned already, and create games and videos that can be controlled with just about anything.

Here is the site if you want to learn more about Makeymakey <http://www.makeymakey.com/>

We wrote a grant for these computer "switches" but did not win. So God sends a generous donor to give us $500 and the fun and creativity has begun! Tech Club gets first crack! Makey-Makey Turn your donut into a switch...or Marie's head...or play-dough!

PARENTS AND FRIENDS CRAFT FAIR 76 vendor booths---Total Net Profit for the event was $5,742.51 $1,155.01 increase! Santa was good to us this year!

COUNSELOR'S CORNER Another great homily requires a shout out. On Wednesday, Fr. Chris spoke about Samuel who heard his name being called but didn't realize that it was the Lord calling. How often do we not hear the Lord calling us? Fr. Chris challenged all of us to join our families for dinner tonight and then turn everything electronic OFF. Now, this is not a stretch for Fr. Chris, who is often suggesting this. On the spiritual side, we need quiet and peace to connect with God. On the emotional side, we need time to commune with one another. So many of us are suffering from being too busy, too plugged in, too disconnected, or connected only through social media.

On the physical side, here is a sobering truth that I read in Psychology Today: "Taken together, [studies show] internet addiction is associated with structural and functional changes in brain regions involving emotional processing, executive attention, decision making, and cognitive control." --research authors summarizing neuro-imaging findings in internet and gaming addiction (Lin & Zhou et al, 2012)

I am so grateful to be able to work at a Catholic school and have the privilege to be encouraged to slow down, shut things down and take in God. Join me.

Karen Lundy, ICS School Counselor

DIOCESAN NEWS...THE MESSENGER Renewal is coming up soon. Grades 7 and 8 will soon be receiving an on-line subscription to the Messenger. More curriculum with no increase in time. All we can do is be very good planners to get it all in. This will be a good chance to teach students how to skim-read for content and interest. In the end, it should help us encourage spiritual reading and realize we are part of the bigger Church too.

ONDESSONK We are the single largest group of campers annually to our Diocesan Camp. Time to register!

CAMP ONDESSONK What it means to me

I was twelve years old when I first felt that feeling. I had just moved to a new school and was feeling the stereotypical adversities that go with such a change. I was fitting in well at my new school, but I was still timid. Immaculate Conception, my new school was full of wonderful and exciting new opportunities that I had never had before, and it made me nervous. In the midst of this new found pressure, I made a great group of friends to help me along; my new group introduced me to Camp Ondessonk.

At twelve years old, I was convinced to make my first big excursion away from home and I went with close to twenty of my friends to magical Ondessonk. The feeling I felt was overwhelming oneness. I felt like I was one with nature, with my friends, with the counselors, but most importantly with myself. I could smell the breeze that picked up the magnificent scent of 983 acres of aged trees, and rocks, and water. Frowns were nonexistent and ear-to-ear- smiles filled their place. Hearts glowed and family traditions were passed on. Since 1959 beaming families have filled the trails of this wonderland and have given a spirit more powerful than anything on earth. Since its genesis, it has been a home away from home full of love, compassion, and empathy. Generations have felt the same feeling I felt and had the marvelous experience I did.

I could reach out and feel the history; Ondessonk is so potently filled with traditions and activities that have made a difference to every person that has set foot on the property, whether in their dotage or their youth. Throughout my first week, I became addicted to the happiness I felt at Camp, to the nature around me, to the traditions, to the vibrant young spirit, I absolutely fell in love, but there was an underlying love about this place that I didn't discover until 3 years later as a CIT.

In the council ring, a very sacred place and the grounds for the lodge ceremony, I laid down beside the guys from my CIT group, and the group after us to have a meaningful talk with one another. In this moment, I realized that Camp is a haven, a home for children who feel lost at home. Being a kid can be extremely difficult, especially when you feel like you're alone, but Camp doesn't let that happen. Ondessonk is a family of thousands spanning over 50 years of campers, staff, and administration, and you are connected to all of them.

So for me, I guess Camp is a chance; a chance to be a part of a family that takes you for you, a place undisturbed by the strife of our daily lives, a breeze that carries the stories of thousands of campfires, and most importantly a home for those who feel alone. I am now going to be a member of general staff at Camp Ondessonk, and my coworkers and I get to make a whole new generation of campers realize just what Camp means to them. Camp Ondessonk-What it means to me. By Jake Daniels

From Lauren Schmidt, Senior at Gibault

Mr. Kish,

Each year at Gibault Catholic High School, seniors give back to the community through various service projects over a three-week period. This year a group of fifteen seniors, including seven Immaculate Conception alumni, (Lauren Schmidt, Monica Shuler, Owen Murphy, Amanda Schmidt, Josh Witges, Jason Merz, and Joe Hippisley) have the opportunity to offer their service to the needy and homeless in Cuenca, Ecuador. From February 20 through March 5, we, along with our classmates, will be traveling to Ecuador to assist at Bless An Orphan, a local agency that provides care to orphaned children. Here we will prepare meals, teach kids math and English, and build necessities (wells, trenches, small homes, community gardens, etc.) for their community. Through our time and service in Ecuador, we hope to spread the light of Christ and offer hope to all we meet.

We are asking for Immaculate Conception School's support through a dress down day fundraiser. Students can bring any amount of change to make a "change" in the lives of those we will serve through our service with Bless an Orphan. We ask that the money raised will go toward our trip to fund travel expenses and projects such as building a community garden, sponsoring a family day, and purchasing supplies for a medical camp. We also ask for your prayers for our team and the people that we will serve in Cuenca. In exchange for your generous support, we would love to give a presentation about our experience to your students the week after we get back. If you have any further questions or want more information about the trip, feel free to contact Lauren Schmidt (lschmidt538@gmail.com), Monica Shuler (monica2898@gmail.com), or Shanna Witges (witges6@gmail.com).

Thank you and God Bless!

Thanks Lauren and grads....we will let you know!

Prayer for the Year of Mercy: God of Mercy, As you have forgiven us, so you send us forth to bear Your message of mercy to all.

Give us willing feet and gentle hands. Bless us with listening ears and searching eyes. Endow us with understanding minds. Ordain us with compassionate hearts.

In our acts and in our words, make us vessels of your mercy to reach out to the broken on behalf of the Father Who wipes away our debts as lovingly as He wipes away our tears and calls his children home. Help us to lift your people in body and spirit, and so, make every year a year of mercy. Amen

We all know we are not getting out of this world alive. That's why we must support each other in the peaks and valleys of life. Oftentimes, the support is exactly what gets us through. God help us!

THE WEDDING FEAST AT CANA Dad put aside wine for 16 years to celebrate his daughter's wedding and honor his friends. The 3 day party was so much fun, it ran out. Mary was a noticer. She went to her Son and trusted. And He is made manifest again. There is no such thing as "Ordinary Time" in the liturgical calendar. It is all "Extraordinary Time"! Jesus is the life of the party. Make Him the life of your life's party! Thanks be to God! We Shall Overcome!
