Dear Parent, Guardian, Student,

Teacher, Friend,

SPEECH PRACTICE NEXT WEEK TUESDAY-FRIDAY 3:15-4:45 We need 3 or 4 Builders Club members for the Speech Meet on the 20th to help the guests get to where they need to go and serve as ambassadors. Please see Mr. Kish on Tuesday! Spot time next Saturday is 8:15 am.

SCIENCE OLYMPIAD IN MACOMB We placed third by one point. We had a 69 behind two 68's and they flipped a coin...Congratulations to the team, Mr. Kassebaum, and our parents and professionals (when you have the guy who blew up the old Jefferson Barracks Bridge(Bill Ulivi) teaching bridge design, a pilot, engineers, nurses and scientists on team you are blessed)! Since the Chicago Middle Schools are Gr. 7-8-9, you are allowed five freshmen on the team. The schools that beat us had 5 freshmen each on the team. We sent grades 6-7-8 and qualified for STATE on April 16 at U of I. We placed in 17 of 23 events!
Air Trajectory - 1st Noah Newton-Isabella Frasure

THE DINNER AUCTION Expect a mailing on Tuesday. The Main Event is next Saturday and we need you to make it a success!

I AM NOT FOND OF LENT---THAT IS SO--- BECAUSE I NEED IT! From White House Retreats: Lent is here. Some dread it. Others wonder: what's the point of it? A few have been looking forward to it-maybe as a chance to lose a few pounds by fasting.

For Catholics, Lent is not just another spiritual 'self-help' program. Every Lenten practice should be focused on one thing: helping me to grow closer to Jesus. My actions should open my heart to a deeper communion with Him. During Lent, the Church offers us 4 traditional practices to help us grow in relationship with Christ.

First: wage war on sin. For many of us, there are two or three main sins that consistently drag us down. These sins get in the way of our relationship with God. They make me self-centered. They distract me from the mission God has given to me. Yes, Christ forgives my sins. And He can help me to pull these sins out by the root. This takes trust, self-awareness, and...

Second: prayer. In the Gospels, Jesus Himself often takes time to be alone with His Father. He goes to the desert or to the mountain. How many times do I say, 'I wish I prayed more'? We have a wealth of spiritual resources in the Church: Scripture, rosary, Eucharistic Adoration, and more. The most important thing is to mark out time for prayer each day. 15 minutes is a reasonable goal to start with. To quote Duck Dynasty, 'If you're too busy to fish and hunt, then you're too busy.' If you are too busy to pray 15 minutes today, then...

Third: fasting. All are asked to refrain from meat on Fridays. And we are each invited to cut other clutter from our lives. How much time do I spend aimlessly surfing the Internet, or clicking through channels? How about needlessly worrying? These things are spiritual junk food. Cutting back on these will free me to love Christ and to receive His love.

Finally, alms. This means sharing my gifts with those in need, especially the poor. Pope Francis has especially highlighted this practice in this Year of Mercy. Jesus Himself did this. He promises that I will meet Him when I serve the poor, the elderly, the weak and wounded.

War on sin, prayer, fasting and alms. Through the practices, Christ brings peace and clarity to my life and draws me closer to Himself. -Fr Joe Laramie, SJ

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK A sincere thanks to Tiffany Taylor for chairing and each and every faculty member for making this a great week. Disruptive? You bet! Memorable? Indeed. When you look back at a school career, it is the stuff that doesn't seem like school that sticks best. We need to get the basics through which we do very well but we also give a world class experience in loving each other. Our God Jesus never said "Like one another"----he said "Love one another" and we can do that through respecting each other and working together for the kingdom here on earth.

They are the champions! Somehow beating the Faculty in the annual Volleyball game can make your year but the Class of 2016 will have a hard time being defined by this fun event in light of all their accomplishments! They are a "Class" Act!

SATURDAY SCHOOL Tomorrow we will be at MathCounts at SIUE(3rd last year behind Edwardsville Lincoln and Liberty), the Mater Dei Scholastic Bowl, and a Chess Meet at St. Joe in Freeburg. Good luck teams and coaches!

LATCHKEY We are currently seeking a new Latchkey Director for our school. Thanks to Ms. Sherry Gogolek for all her work for us. Mrs. Epplin and Mrs. Lewis and our teachers are covering for now but we have some good leads and are making transitional changes to be ready for moving out of the convent. Through a generous donor, we have some latchkey “scholarship money” available. Please contact the Principal to inquire.

Terrific Kids – February 2016

Mrs. Diewald: Emma Tyler - Emma is our Terrific Kid for the month of February. Emma is a hard worker and great listener in the classroom. She is always willing to cheer up a friend and make others feel welcome.

Mrs. Meyer: Aubry Thomas - Aubry always lends a helping hand in the classroom! She is always kind to her classmates and friends!

Ms. Kennedy: Ava Schmidt- Ava has been working very hard this quarter. She has excellent participation in class each and every day. Ava is also very sweet to her teachers and classmates.

Mrs. Matrisotto: Vance Ray - Vance has really stepped up his game since the beginning of the year. His behavior has truly blossomed. Working extra hard at home practicing multiplication facts drastically has helped Vance with Math. All the extra time spent focusing on reading has transferred over to other subjects. Keep up the great work! Way to go Vance Ray! I am so proud of you!

Mrs. Donjon: Maddi Swip - Maddi truly is a Terrific Kid. She works hard in class and recently has been having to work even harder outside the classroom. Maddi has proven that she is responsible, brave, and able to handle situations which she has no control over. Great work Maddi - Keep it up!

Mrs. Ettl: Maggie Williamson – Maggie is a self-motivated student. She is always keeping busy in the classroom. She tries her best on her work, asks questions when she is curious or confused, and has a passion for reading.

Mrs. Taylor: Stephen Johns – Stephen tries very hard, is aware of what’s always going on in the classroom, and comes prepared for class.

Mrs. Schauster: Kyle Rose - Kyle is a Terrific Kid. Kyle is always willing to help out his fellow classmates or a teacher. He has a very kind and caring spirit.

CONGRATULATIONS to Spencer Biske on winning the DAR Essay Contest! His essay was on the STAMP ACT OF 1765. He will be honored on March 2 by the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Monroe County Annex in Waterloo.

BOOK FAIR Clifford gave some free reading tips to School Board Vice-President Adam Randle Sunday morning. Teresa Dorshorst and Crystal Schaefer and parent volunteers did a great job again promoting reading. I have often felt that we who can read and won't read are little better off than those who can't read at all! Read to succeed. Read to know your God better. Read to know God's world better!

KIDS AGAINST HUNGER 31 ICS Builders Club, Columbia Key Club, Columbia Kiwanis, ICS students, siblings, and 12 adults totalling 47 workers spent Saturday morning making 14,040 meals that will be sent to Honduras to feed children. Retired Lutheran Pastor Rudy and Dorothy Schaser officially handed over their relationship with the ICS Builders Club to Dr. Greg and Karen Fremel who coordinate the program through Washington Overseas Missions, of Washington Missouri which started out as a medical missions team via contacts through St. Francis Borgia High School. Kiwanians Sharon Nealon, Pat McDermott, Jolene Devlin, and Charity Wright, represented the ICS Builders Club sponsors for the 7th year of the program. The Builders Club raised $3,250 to fund the effort through donations and fund-raising projects. This week Channel 2 featured an organization that made over 1000 packets last Saturday---we made 2,340 on Saturday!

THANKS TO Columbia Girl Scout Troop 1117 and troop leader Laura Whelan for donating $218.33 to the ICS Builders Club project in memory of Claire's Mary Eppinger!

Fr. Ron Rolheiser, OMI

In his book, The Return of the Prodigal Son, Henri Nouwen suggests that one of the main things that has to happen in order for us to come to conversion and purity of heart is that we must move from being judge to being repentant sinner.

From judge to repentant sinner, what is being suggested here? Psalm 50 haunts the heart with the refrain: "A humbled and contrite heart you (God) will not spurn." Our problem is that, despite considerable sincerity, our hearts are rarely humble and contrite. The norm is judgment of others, anger at them, and a certain moral smugness and self-righteousness.

Rarely are we on our knees with our heads against the breast of a forgiving God, contrite about what we've done and left undone—our betrayals, our sins, our inadequacies. Most of the time our posture is that of the judge. Our own faults are rarely at issue as we adjudicate others' need for contrition and pronounce judgment on their faults.

Our own judgmental attitude and self-righteousness is, most of the time, hidden from us. In our own eyes we are never the hypocrite, the one sitting in judgment on somebody else's life. No. We are the honest ones, the compassionate ones, the humble ones.

Yet, that is rarely the way we are seen by others, especially by those closest to us. Almost always they feel judged by us and almost always they see in us a self-righteousness and a moral smugness that offends them. People around us are only too aware that we are much more the judge than the repentant sinner, even as we ourselves are little aware of it.

Thus, for example, if our temperament puts us at home in liberal circles, there is a good chance that we nurse a fair amount of anger against our more conservative and traditional brothers and sisters. Invariably they will appear to us as morally smug, holier-than-thou, complacent, timid, rigid, dogmatic, fundamentalistic, power-hungry and intellectually backward—and yet as claiming the moral and religious high ground.

Moreover, we feel that they are judging us, believing that we no longer pray, that we have sold out in terms of sexual morality, and that we are not really Catholic and Christian in the true sense.

And this double awareness—of their hypocrisy and of being judged by them—will dominate our self-awareness much more than will any self-criticism or awareness of our own duplicity, sin and betrayals.

Little are we aware that they, the conservatives, feel judged by us, that they feel us as intimating that they are stupid, backward, sexually hung-up, racists, sexists, blind to justice, legalistic, naive of real human experience and fundamentalistic. Little are we aware that they, whom we label as holier-than-thou, consider our attitude as "holier-than-thou."

The converse is just as true: If we find our home among those of a more conservative mindset, there is a very good chance that we harbor a lot of anger against our more liberal sisters and brothers—against feminists, against social justice groups, against a lot of artists and against theologians. Invariably they will appear to us, precisely, as morally smug, as posturing (more-sensitive-and-inclusive-than-thou), as intellectually arrogant and bullying, and as claiming, in Pharisee fashion, the religious and moral high ground.

And we will feel them as judging us, believing that we are intellectually backward, fundamentalistic, unenlightened, hung up on sex, insensitive to the needs of the poor, a racist, a sexist,, a dinosaur from another age.

Little are we aware that they, on their part, feel so judged and put down by us. That they perceive us as the bully, the power to be feared, the person who is anti-life, the dealer of unfreedom and death.

Strange how each of us so clearly sees the judgmental attitude in the other and yet is so unaware of how brutally judgmental we ourselves are. One man's prophet is another man's fanatic; one woman's freedom fighter is another woman's terrorist; and one person's pro-life struggle is, for another person, the dealing of death!

What is true here in terms of the self-righteousness and self-blindness that exists within our ideological circles is perhaps even more true within the ordinary give and take of our daily lives. We are invariably judge, never repentant sinner.

Conversion begins when we stop standing as judge in order to kneel as sinner. When we are humble and contrite of heart we will not be spurned by God—nor by each other.

PARISH NEWS... Annual Charitable Giving Event---we are a Full Stewardship Parish. Our parish is a corporate body too. Our parish practices stewardship as a corporate body. You practice as an individual. We will split up 2% of last year's donations for the poor on February 14 at 2:00---stewardship of charity---$32,633.00 to be awarded. Please come, plead your case for a charity our parish does not already support, we vote "shares", and then the parish awards the proceeds. Think Globally, Act Locally!

devil---all topics we need to address in our lives. If you come, your chances get better. Maybe for Lent this year, you give up Sunday morning time and give it to the Lord with your family? Come to the desert---come to the Table! See who wins the wrestling match!

MIKE KISH

Ps Mardi Gras sure was fun. Thanks to the Knights and Diane Zika and faculty and parishioners who put it on for us!

Ps THE STATE OF ILLINOIS will review our lunch program on Feb. 26. Kim Nesler will be here.

PS All are welcome for Stations of the Cross at 2:15 in our chapelgymnacafetorium at 2:15.

PS No school on Monday in honor of President's Day.

PS THE MESSENGER We are in it at least 4 times this week. Please read the article on Fr. Vince Haselhorst, former pastor, who helped start a credit union in Guastatoya in 1966 with 30 community members depositing $5 each. Today it is worth $90 million dollars. The POWER OF ONE—it's Fr. Vince---it's us! Believe!
