LUMEN CHRISTI AWARD NOMINATION – YOUR VOTE NEEDED NOW!

Diane Sonneman, Director of Catholic Urban Programs' Griffin Center, has been nominated for Catholic Extension's 2015 Lumen Christi Award. Now in its 38th year, the Lumen Christi Award is presented to an individual whose service spreads the light of Christ and transforms their community and beyond. If Diane is selected as a finalist, Griffin Center will receive a $10,000 award; should she be selected for the award, there is a $50,000 award.

Please visit Catholic Extension's website – www.catholicextension.org – or the Catholic Extension Facebook page and cast your vote for Diane today. Please also pass this information on to family, friends and others you feel might assist. Let's be the first mission diocese to be home to three Lumen Christi Award winners (Joe Hubbard and Sister Ann Connelly, A.S.C., were previous winners of this most prestigious award). I have known Diane for over 30 years. Her work rivals that of the humble giants in the Church like Mother Theresa, Dorothy Day, St. Francis Xavier Cabrini and even our Holy Father. We help her through the Griffin Center Christmas Gift program through the Builders Club, Valentine supplies, school supplies, donations, and prayer. Diane once told me "sometimes I want to sit down and just pray that all these good ideas will go away" but then she remembers they are from the Spirit and flies into action. It is easy for you to vote. We have a very small diocese. Please take the time to honor her and the good work she is doing for the children that need her so desperately in finding hope in their lives.

REGISTRATION We are looking to spread the Gospel! Please send us your friends and neighbors!

Spring Pictures are on Wednesday, April 8, 2015.

Counselor's Corner March 2015

I am stepping outside the box a bit to speak about a way to help your children that you may not have considered. ICC parish, as you may well know, offers a retreat program called ACTS. The next ladies retreat is April 30-May 3 and the Men's retreat is June 11-14th. A decision to attend this retreat can have far-reaching impact that will no doubt benefit you, your spouse, your children and your community. The ACTS retreat is adult faith formation. You are already committed to providing your child with his/her own faith formation, but what about your own? Consider that all you are and how you grow spiritually will only enhance the deepening in faith of those you love. I cannot think of a more positive mental health intervention.

BELL RINGING ON APRIL 9, 2015 TO COMMEMORATE THE END OF THE CIVIL WAR AND THE END TO SLAVERY

On April 9, 2015, our nation will mark the 150th anniversary of the surrender ceremony at the Appomattox Court House, which came to symbolize the beginning of reconciliation throughout the United States for a nation torn apart by civil war. The terms of General Lee's surrender were intentionally lenient as President Abraham Lincoln wanted to demonstrate to people in the South that they had a place in America. Confederate troops were paroled, allowed to keep their side-arms, their horses and their possessions and urged to return to their homes.

150 years later as we commemorate this event, we all can benefit from the words with which President Lincoln concluded his second inaugural address just weeks before the war ended:

With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish, a just and a lasting peace, among ourselves, and with all nations.

With a sense of respect for those who have labored these many years to act on President Lincoln's vision and with a profound sense of hope for the future, we, the Catholic Bishops of Illinois, having met at our annual spring meeting, call on all of our parishes, schools and religious houses in this Land of Lincoln to ring their bells at 2:15 p.m. CDT on April 9, for four minutes. This will be done to coincide with the very hour of the ceremony at Appomattox, leading to the end of the four-year Civil War and to an end to slavery in the United States, which came in December of that year with the ratification of the 13th amendment. We invite all citizens at the ringing of the bells to pause and say a prayer for our nation in the spirit of President Lincoln's inspiring words.

At ICS, we've been thinking about commemorating the 15th, the day Lincoln died. We spend a lot of time talking about him in school, more than 600 schools nation-wide named after him and over 200 American towns and cities. ANY IDEAS???

MARY UNDER THE CROSS REV. RON ROLHEISER, OMI

[Last in a six part Lenten series on Mystical Images]

One of the most popular images in all of scripture (an icon that's been endlessly painted, sung, put into litanies, written up into poetry, and used to triggered every kind of pious feeling) is the image of Mary, the mother of Jesus, standing silently under the cross as her son dies.

As Jesus was dying, the Gospels tell us that Mary, his mother, stood under the cross. What's in that image? What's in this picture that invites us to more than simple admiration, piety, or sympathy?

This is a mystical image and it is anything but pious. In the Gospels, after Jesus, Mary is the most important person to watch. She's the model of discipleship, the only one who gets it right. And she gets it very right under the cross. What's she doing while standing there?

On the surface, it seems she isn't doing anything at all: She doesn't speak, doesn't try to stop the crucifixion, and she doesn't even protest its unfairness or plead Jesus' innocence. She is mute, seemingly passive, overtly doing nothing. But at a deeper level, she is doing all that can be done when one is standing under the weight of the cross, she's holding the tension, standing in strength, refusing to give back in kind, and resisting in a deeper way.

What's meant by this?

Sometimes well-intentioned artists have painted Mary as lying prostrate under the cross, the wounded mother, helplessly distraught, paralysed in grief, an object for sympathy. But that doesn't honour what happened there nor teach its lesson. Prostration, in this situation, is weakness, collapse, hysteria, resignation. In the Gospels, "standing" is the opposite, a position of strength. Mary "stood" under the cross.

Still, why the silence and why her seeming unwillingness to act or protest?

In essence, what Mary was doing under the cross was this: She couldn't stop the crucifixion (there are times when darkness has its hour) but she could stop some of the hatred, bitterness, jealousy, heartlessness, and anger that caused it and surrounded it. And she helped stop bitterness by refusing to give it back in kind, by transforming rather than transmitting it, by swallowing hard and (literally) eating bitterness rather than giving it back, as everyone else was doing.

Had Mary, in moral outrage, begun to scream hysterically, shout angrily at those crucifying Jesus, or physically tried to attack someone as he was driving the nails into Jesus' hands, she would have been caught up in the same kind of energy as everyone else, replicating the very anger and bitterness that caused the crucifixion to begin with. What Mary was doing under the cross, her silence and seeming unwillingness to protest notwithstanding, was radiating all that is antithetical to the crucifixion: gentleness, understanding, forgiveness, peace, light.

And that's not easy to do. Everything inside us demands justice, screams for it, and refuses to remain silent in the presence of injustice. That's a healthy instinct and sometimes acting on it is good. We need, at times, to protest, to shout, to literally throw ourselves into the face of injustice and do everything in our power to stop the crucifixion.

But there are times too when things have gone so far that shouts and protests are no longer helpful, darkness is going to have its hour come what may and all we can do is to stand under the cross and help eat its bitterness by refusing to participate in its energy. In those situations, like Mary, we have to say: “I can’t stop this crucifixion, but I can stop some of the hatred, bitterness, jealousy, brute-heartlessness, and darkness that surround it. I can’t stop this, but I will not conduct its hatred.”

And that’s not the same thing as despair. Our muted helplessness is not a passive resignation but the opposite. It’s a movement towards the only rays of light, love, and faith that still exist in that darkness and hatred. And, at that moment, it’s the only thing that faith and love can do.

As the Book of Lamentations says, there are times when the best we can do is “put our mouths to the dust and wait!” Sometimes too, as Rainer Marie Rilke says, the only helpful thing is to absorb the heaviness: “Do not be afraid to suffer, give the heaviness back to the weight of the earth; mountains are heavy, seas are heavy.”

That’s not passivity, resignation, or weakness; it’s genuine, rare strength. It’s “standing under the cross” so as to help take away some of its hatred, chaos, bitterness, and violence.

So this is the image: Sometimes darkness has its hour and there is nothing we can do to stop it. Sometimes the blind, wounded forces of jealousy, bitterness, violence, and sin cannot, for that moment, be stopped. But, like Mary under the cross, we are asked to “stand” under them, not in passivity and weakness, but in strength, knowing that we can’t stop the crucifixion but we can help stop some of the hatred, anger, and bitterness that surrounds it.
