D.A.R.E We celebrate another completion of the Drug and Alcohols Resistance Education program on Tuesday evening here at 7:00. It will be a jam-packed event as combine our 6th grade with the CMS 5th graders honoring 140 students. Our thanks to Det. Sgt. Jason Donjon and Chief Joe Edwards of the Columbia Police Department for all their help. D.A.R.E. has its naysayers but I don't like to think where we would be without it. You need to be informed to make choices. Knowledge doesn't always stop us from making bad choices but I am sure it discourages some. People have to be saved one at a time!

Press Release: Sixth grade students recently completed the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) Program under the direction of Columbia PD's Det. Jason Donjon and will celebrate with a graduation ceremony at 7 PM on Tuesday, April 14 in the ICS gym. In the weekly classes, the students learned the facts about drugs, alcohol, and smoking along with how to handle peer pressure in order to avoid making bad decisions in their future. During classes, the students were also shown different tools that police officers use in doing their jobs and saw a demonstration of how Dago, Columbia's K-9 officer, can be used to search for drugs and apprehend suspects. Congratulations to Anna Adams, who was announced the overall winner of the essay contest this year. Anna, along with other essay contest finalists Delaney Lundberg, Andrew Harmon, Isabella Frasure, Kalia Jerkatis, Eli Garcia, and Noah Chism will be rewarded with a tour of the Cardinal stadium and lunch at the Spaghetti Factory on April 14.

Anna Adams

Drugs are dangerous and unhealthy, and I am nervous about being exposed to them. Through DARE, I have learned many facts about drugs that will help me make healthy decisions in my life. DARE help me to understand about peer pressure when it comes to drugs and suggested many ways to deal with it or avoid it. I hope to use all the information that I learned to make good decisions in my life and be very happy .

I learned many facts about drugs and many ways to avoid them. Over 400,000 Americans die each year from tobacco related drugs. There are over 200 types of drugs. The newest type of drug is the electric cigarette. They are making flavors to encourage kids to buy the electric cigarette. People think it is just water vapor, but this is not true. Marijuana users have an increased risk of cancer. Marijuana affects your body and brain. Another type of drug that you see most often is cigarettes. Smoking is the number one cause of lung cancer. Cigarettes contain nicotine, a very powerful substance that causes addiction.

Besides marijuana, prescription drugs are the most abused drugs in America. One reason prescription drugs and over the counter drugs are the most abused is because they are easy to get to from doctors and drug dealers. Some new and harmful trends are Molly, Skilting, Sizzurp. Molly is a white powder in a pill form. Skilting is a type of cough medicine that people get addicted to. Sizzurp is when you mix Sprite, Jolly Ranchers and cough medicine together. Painkillers are also very addictive and expensive. People will switch to heroin because it is less expensive.

How do you avoid the peer pressure of trying drugs? If you know of places where people may use drugs, stay away from those places. If you are in a situation with drugs just walk away or say no with a reason. For example, "No, I will get kicked off the cheer team if I do drugs." Another option is to change the subject. Start talking about how the Cardinals are doing or how the weather has been. If you are stressed don't just give in. Some ways to relieve stress would be to count to 5, walk away from the situation and calm yourself down. Ways to avoid the peer pressure is to be around trustworthy friends, be prepared and be confident.

Officer Donjon taught me many things about the use of drugs. During DARE class we learned that inhalants are so dangerous you can die or cause damage to your body. The harmful effects of alcohol are you can die or get really dizzy. Alcohol and tobacco companies use advertisements to try to influence young people by making flavors they would like and also by making it look like you will never get depressed or sick.

DARE has given me more confidence on how to deal with situations that may include drugs. Drugs are very scary to me. Watching the videos of real life experiences helped me better understand how terrible drugs can be. When a person uses drugs, the outcome is not what they expect or hope for. It can end your life, you could have rotten teeth or even end up in jail. I don't want any of those things for me, so I am making a personal commitment to always avoid drugs.

From White House Retreats: When, out of fear, the disciples had locked themselves in the upper room, what might they have expected to happen? They didn't expect to see Jesus, it seems. But, as in every resurrection account in the Gospels, Jesus comes to them! He comes through locked doors with forgiveness and love. All he wishes for them is peace and "blessed assurance!"

When, out of fear of whatever afflicts us, we don't know what to expect, we can always remember that Jesus shows us his glorious wounds-- those wounds that heal us and bring life and hope. God's mercy is stronger than anything in the world, and we need to know that. And to rejoice in that knowledge!

I heard a rumor that kids are good at raking gumballs and we have been over-taken in the pre-K. Our 4 year olds keep trying to turn them into soup and meatballs but they just can't keep up. Please come help. The Principal will be interviewing...

PS You won't get very far in life on an 8th grade education. Try it for your religion? Keep growing spiritually. We feed our bodies and the food lasts only one day. Our minds and spiritual life are the same...feed both each day!

FIND THE EASTER JOY! The highlight of all we do and teach just happened last weekend! Let's act like it! Like Fr. Carl said this Easter Tuesday morning---"Let it soak in". Looking for "closure"? Where's the body? "Show me the body!" Jesus is walking right next to us and we don't recognize him in our family, our neighbors, the poor!

Don't be afraid of deep places. Sometimes, it only by going there that we find ourselves.

Pope Francis as seminary rector. Everyone had to work. He took the laundry job that started at 5:30. As the little kid said, he was a shepherd already---"washing his socks by night"
