V. 41 #15

Dear Parent, Guardian, Student, Teacher, Friend,

Chess for Beginners: Would your child like to learn to play chess? Two introduction to chess sessions will be held in the ICS cafeteria from 3:00-4:00 on Tues., Oct. 6th and Tues., Oct. 20th for grades 1-8. This class is for students who are not currently on the chess team, but who might like to join. The basics of chess will be introduced both days. There is no obligation to join the team, just an opportunity to come and learn something new! If your child is interested, email Mrs. Herrmann cherrmann@icsmail.org by Mon., Oct. 5th.

It's Almost Time for Chess! Chess practices for grades 1-8 will begin November 3 for the Chess Team. A full schedule will be coming soon. Please let Mrs. Herrmann (cherrmann@icsmail.org) know if your child will be returning to the chess team if you haven't already done so. WE WERE DIOCESAN CHAMPS LAST YEAR!

ENTERTAINMENT BOOKS: 415 sold so far. We are extending the jeans day offer. If you sell two books by Monday, your child will get a jeans day in the next week or two. The date will be decided and sent in an email. For every book you sell, your name also goes into a drawing for a $50 gas card. Good Luck! If you still have your original book out, please send back to school or pay $30.00 to purchase the book. Thanks Michelle!

Gibault Art Contest deadline for art work is Wednesday, October 7, next week.

This contest is for 6, 7 and 8th grades. Figure Drawing(person), Drawing(with or without color), Illustration, Cartooning, Still Life, Painting or Clay are all accepted for this contest. Mrs. Fetcho will be in her class room on Tuesday and Wednesday after school until 4:30 if students need her help finishing. TURN IN DATE FOR THE GIBAULT ART CONTEST IS NEXT WEDNESDAY, OCT. 7.

We need your preloved clothes! Immaculate Conception School is having a Schoola Clothing drive!

What is Schoola? Schoola preps and sells our preloved clothes at bit.ly/IC-ColumbiaSchoola and gives our school 40% of the profits every quarter! Thanks to you, we have earned over $1500 with Schoola. Our inventory is low. We need your preloved clothes, shoes and handbags. ANY SIZES!

A flier & sticker label should have come home this week with the oldest student in your family. Fill a bag with your clothes and stick the label on the outside of the bag so our school gets the credit. Please drop them off at the Schoola box by the gym, October 5-13. Thank you for your continued support of our school.

Questions? Contact our Schoola Coach, Julie Verslues at julie@schoola.com or Jessica Wachtel at jwachtel80@gmail.com

ICS/JOE HOGUET MEMORIAL GOLF TOURNAMENT The ICS Fathers Club would like to thank everyone who played, donated, worked or contributed to the 20th annual Joe Hoguet Golf Tournament. With everyone's help we were able to raise $12,000 for athletics and computer departments at ICS! A huge success that we only want to make better for next year. All of our corporate sponsors are listed on the new banner in the gym, please support and thank those companies that support our school. Also, be on the lookout for some new Fathers Club events this fall. Email icsfathers@gmail.com to make sure you are added to our email list. ICS Fathers Club

Winners of the ICS/Joe Hoguet Golf Tournament Kevin Schwartz, Bob Glazebrook (Kim's Dad) and Steve Glazebrook (Kim's brother). Two years on a row for this 3-some! 13 under I heard.

Captain Dan Whelan of Southwest Airlines helped prep the 4th grade class of Immaculate Conception School for their “Transportation Field Trip”. Students study flight and visit Mid-America Airport in Cahokia, learn about commercial transportation through Heart Land Barge company and then visit the Mississippi River at Eads Bridge, ride Metro-Link to Union Station, and then take a tour there before coming home on the bus. Dan was on Channel 4 twice this week! Pedal the Cause has raised over 10 million dollars for cancer research! Our Dan makes a great “spokesman” for Pedal the Cause!

Tuesday, September 29 Feast of Michael, Gabriel and Raphael. Dan. 7:9-10, 13-14 or Rev. 12:7-12ab; Jn. 1:47-51 (Revelation) Michael and his angels battled against the dragon.

On the occasion of his first Communion, our little guy received The Brick Bible, meticulously and impressively illustrated with Lego figures. The illustrator had a field day with the Book of Revelation and frankly I was a bit put off to see Michael and his angels carrying what looked like automatic assault rifles. I prefer my angels with swords, thank you very much. But I suppose it points out that the battle between good and evil is not romantic, but sometimes down and dirty and for keeps. Angels of God, protect us and all those we hold dear. Paige Byrne Shortal(Paige is a great preacher and a legend while at the College Church at SLU with her Advent Programs!)

TODAY is the Feast of the Guardian Angels. Like miracles, you don't have to believe in them but I count on them everyday! Angel of God, my guardian dear, to whom God's love commits me here. Ever this day, be at my side, to light and guard, to rule and guide. Amen

ART ON THE BLUFFS ICS winners of the People's Choice award for Art on The Bluffs were: Reagan Herrmann- 11-14 category, 1st place; Dakota L'Hote- 11-14, 2nd place; Maria Biske- 11-14, 2nd place; Jacob Whitworth- 11-14, 3rd place; Cheyenne May- 3-10, 3rd place. CALLING ALL MUSICAL TEENS!.. Calling All Musical Teens! We are encouraging teens to join in music ministry as a teen choir is forming for the 5:00 mass. A rehearsal at 4:30 before mass would be the only time needed to contribute. Karen Lundy for questions.

THE FRANCIS EFFECT Can we ride the coat-tails of Pope Francis to bring about change? The root of all this is not Francis, or the Church, but Jesus Christ. Please steer everything into that perspective and we have a chance!

Francis' last message to America: Don't be afraid of new things! Joshua J. McElwee | Sep. 27, 2015

Pope Francis ended his exhaustive six-day, three-city tour of the U.S. Sunday with a strong exhortation to American Catholics to be unafraid of trying new things, even if they seem to threaten long-practiced traditions or existing church structures.

In a homily to hundreds of thousands at an outdoor Mass packing Philadelphia's iconic Benjamin Franklin Parkway, Francis said that Jesus' disciples were also afraid of new things -- but that Jesus broke down all barriers to allow the Spirit to do its work. "Jesus encountered hostility from people who did not accept what he said and did," the pope told the crowds, many of whom had waited for long hours to participate in the last of his three public Masses while in the U.S. "For them, his openness to the honest and sincere faith of many men and women who were not part of God's chosen people seemed intolerable," said the pontiff. "The disciples, for their part, acted in good faith," he said. "But the temptation to be scandalized by the freedom of God, who sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous alike, bypassing bureaucracy, officialdom and inner circles, threatens the authenticity of faith. Hence it must be vigorously rejected." "For Jesus, the truly 'intolerable' scandal consists in everything that breaks down and destroys our trust in the working of the Spirit!" said Francis. God, the pope said, "will not be outdone in generosity and he continues to scatter seeds." "He scatters the seeds of his presence in our world, for 'love consists in this, not that we have loved God but that he loved us' first," said the pontiff. "That love gives us a profound certainty: We are sought by God; he waits for us." "It is this confidence that makes disciples encourage, support and nurture the good things happening all around them," said Francis. "To raise doubts about the working of the Spirit, to give the impression that it cannot take place in those who are not 'part of our group,' who are not 'like us,' is a dangerous temptation." "Not only does it block conversion to the faith; it is a perversion of faith!" he said.

Francis was speaking Sunday in a Mass that had attracted an incredible number of people to Philadelphia's downtown area. On the way to the ceremony, the pope greeted people from the pope-mobile, struggling to make its way through the densely packed crowds. The pontiff stopped the vehicle dozens of times, pointing at and calling forth babies to bless and kiss. Security for Francis' visit to Philadelphia has been extraordinary. The downtown area has essentially been shut down for a several mile radius, with all vehicle traffic barred and people forced to go on foot through airport-style security checkpoints. Uniformed police and military have been patrolling streets, crowds, and local stores -- sometimes outnumbering pilgrims. The security measures caused issues for many planning to attend the Mass, who endured mile-long lines to enter the security checkpoints but were unable to be cleared in time. One group from New Jersey had entered the line at 10 a.m. for the 4 p.m. Mass but was eventually forced to give up.

Francis' homily Sunday was the last in a series of powerful speeches he has made on his U.S. trip, directed at a wide range of constituencies. He has been in the U.S. since Tuesday, visiting the cities of Washington, New York, and Philadelphia. In Washington, he spoke to President Barack Obama, Congress and political leaders, and the U.S. bishops; in New York to the United Nations; in Philadelphia to lay people and a group of international bishops.

In Sunday's homily, Francis reflected on a Gospel reading that sees the disciples ask Jesus whether they should rebuke others who are healing in his name. Jesus replies: "There is no one who performs a mighty deed in my name who can at the same time speak ill of me."

The pope said that just like happiness, holiness is "tied to little gestures." "These little gestures are those we learn at home, in the family; they get lost amid all the other things we do, yet they do make each day different," he said. "They are the quiet things done by mothers and grandmothers, by fathers and grandfathers, by children."

"Love is shown by little things, by attention to small daily signs which make us feel at home. Faith grows when it is lived and shaped by love," said the pope. "That is why our families, our homes, are true domestic churches. They are the right place for faith to become life, and life to become faith."

Commenting on how many had gathered for the Mass, Francis said: "This is itself something prophetic, a kind of miracle in today's world." "Would that we could all be prophets!" he said. "Would that all of us could be open to miracles of love for the sake of all the families of the world, and thus overcome the scandal of a narrow, petty love, closed in on itself, impatient of others!"

The pontiff then offered an expansive gesture of gratitude to all families.

"Anyone who wants to bring into this world a family which teaches children to be excited by every gesture aimed at overcoming evil -- a family which shows that the Spirit is alive and at work -- will encounter our gratitude and our appreciation," said Francis. "Whatever the family, people, region, or religion to which they belong!"

Francis heads back to Rome Sunday evening, after one last short meeting with some 500 members of the World Meeting of Families, a Vatican sponsored every three-year event that was held in Philadelphia last week.

The pontiff will be sent off from Philadelphia by Vice President Joe Biden and his wife Jill, who have traveled from Washington to offer a formal goodbye to the pope from the country. [Joshua J. McElwee is an NCR Vatican correspondent. His email

Pope Francis's historic visit to the United States has inspired our nation toward a greater commitment to the flourishing of all of creation through respect for the dignity of the human person, especially the most vulnerable among us, including the unborn. This week we have the opportunity to put this call into action. The U.S. House of Representatives will consider a bill, H.R. 3495, "The Women's Public Health and Safety Act," which will allow states the freedom to exclude abortion providers from Medicaid funding. Please contact your representative with this message and encourage him or her to vote for this important legislation. Taxpayers should not be forced to fund the abortion industry, either directly or indirectly.

In his address to the U.S. bishops last week, Pope Francis reminded us of our responsibility to speak out to protect life: The innocent victim of abortion, children who die of hunger or from bombings, immigrants who drown in the search for a better tomorrow, the elderly or the sick who are considered a burden, the victims of terrorism, wars, violence and drug trafficking, the environment devastated by man's predatory relationship with nature -- at stake in all of this is the gift of God, of which we are noble stewards but not masters. It is wrong, then, to look the other way or to remain silent.

Supporting this legislation is one small but important step we can take on behalf of those who need of our protection. Thank you once again for your efforts on behalf of human life.

NATIONAL VOCATIONS WEEK NOV 1-8 DON'T LET PEERS DISCOURAGE VOCATIONS!

O Jesus, through the Immaculate Heart of Mary, I offer you my prayers, works, joys, and sufferings of this day, for all the intentions of your Sacred Heart, in union with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass throughout the world, in reparation for all my sins, for the intentions of all our associates and in particular for the intentions recommended this month by the Holy Father. (The Holy Father's universal prayer intention for October is: "That human trafficking, the modern form of slavery, may be eradicated.) AMEN!

OUR CONDOLENCES The Schuette family was expecting a baby girl this December, but last Friday Cathe and Jim learned that they had lost the baby. Buttercup Schuette(Sophia named her little sister), was laid to rest today. God's peace to her family on the Feast of the Guardian Angels.

LET'S PLAY "STUMP THE MESSIAH" I guess there will always be Pharisees in the world. Jesus had to put up with them too. Self-righteous. Hypocritical. Unmerciful. People who loved to "muzzle the ox that tread their grain" as St. Paul put it. This week marriage is a focal point...and here jumps in my good friend...

We also know that just walking down the aisle in a church does not make a sacrament. Some relationships, from their very beginning, did not possess what could and would be a sacrament. The reasons are many but 50% fail. As Pope Francis reminds us so clearly, these folks deserve our welcome, our comfort and understanding and our sacraments. Many of our divorced remain clear signs of God's passion, forgiveness and faithfulness in their own unique ways and they too are a blessing on all of us. The ideal remains the same but we humans are not always able to achieve the ideal but it remains a goal for all marriages. Selfless love by both people who marry, moves towards the ideal held up for us.

A folkloric tale: After a long siege, the Duke of Bavaria sat trapped in his castle of Weisberg. Outside the city walls, his enemy, emperor Konrad, demanding his surrender. While the conditions of surrender were being determined, the women of Weisberg sent a message to Konrad, asking for safe passage out of the city. They also requested that they be allowed to take with them as many valuables as they could carry. Their request granted, soon the castle gates were open and out came the women. To Konrad's amazement, they carried no gold or jewels. Each woman was bending under the weight of her husband, who she hoped to save from the vengeance of their conqueror. Their loving stratagem proved successful and their story continues to bear witness to selfless love which constitutes marriage at its best. If the men would have been willing to do the same we might even say their marriages were sacraments.
